Preface

General Knowledge Quiz Mania series is prepared primarily for the benefit of curious young children. The study of general knowledge is a fairly demanding task. An effort, therefore, has been made to present this series in as systematic manner as possible. Wherever possible, information is supplemented with coloured pictures, maps and tables which are always easier to understand than the written text. A number of exercises and work sheets are also included at the end of this book on the premise that one learns better by writing than by reading alone.

General Knowledge Quiz Mania Series is also intended as an introduction to a new way of looking things around us. The traditional study of general knowledge is subdivided into systematic areas of interests.

I would like to thank all those who helped to prepare this series. Any suggestions regarding the betterment of this series will be highly valued.

God is Watching You

Late in the night, a thief broke into a house thinking that it was empty. He was looking for valuables but suddenly he froze when he heard a voice saying 'God is watching you.' After that it was silence for a moment and he again started looking into closets. 'God is watching you,' the voice said again. The thief became little frightened. He looked all around. In the corner of the room, he found a bird cage and in that, there was a parrot.

He asked the parrot: Are you saying God is watching me?

'Yes, replied the parrot. The thief had a sigh of relief,' and asked 'What's your name?'

'Sinister,' said the bird.

'That's a very dumb name for a parrot,' said the thief. 'What idiot named you Sinister?'

The parrot replied, 'The same idiot who named the dog standing behind you, God.'

Preface

General Knowledge Quiz Mania series is prepared primarily for the benefit of curious young children.

The study of general knowledge is a fairly demanding task. An effort, therefore, has been made to present this series in as systematic manner as possible. Wherever possible, information is supplemented with coloured pictures, maps and tables which are always easier to understand than the written text. A number of exercises and work sheets are also included at the end of this book on the premise that one learns better by writing than by reading alone. General Knowledge Quiz Mania series is also intended as an introduction to a new way of looking things around us. The traditional study of general knowledge is subdivided into systematic areas of interests.

I would like to thank all those who helped to prepare this series. Any suggestions regarding the betterment of this series will be highly valued.

 Born : 1871 B.S.
 Died : 1925 B.S.
 Place of birth : Chundi Ramgha, Tanahu
 Nationality : Nepali
 Religion : Hindu
 Occupation : Poet

Bhanubhakta Acharya was born in a Brahmin family in 1871 in Chundi Ramgha, Tanahu district. The first poet of Nepal, he translated the great epic 'The Ramayana' from Sanskrit to Nepali. He received education with a strong leaning towards religion at home from his grandfather.

Nepalese people commemorate 29th Asar as "Bhanu Jayanti", the birthday of Bhanubhakta Acharya. He is also known as "Adikavi". "Adikavi" in reference to Bhanubhakta had first been used by Motiram Bhatta while writing a biography of Bhanubhakta in 1938 B.S. Motiram Bhatta described him as Adikavi, not because he was the first poet in Nepali. As Motiram himself recognized, there were many poets before Bhanubhakta. Instead, he argued that Bhanubhakta deserved the title because he was the first poet who wrote with an understanding of the "marma"(inner essence) of poetry.

The Bardiya National Park is situated on the eastern banks of the Karnali river, about 400 kms. west of Kathmandu. The park is 968 sq kms. in area and extends from the Churia hills southward to the gentle slopes of the 'Bhabhar' in the north.

Situated about 370 km. north-west of Kathmandu, Rara is Nepal's smallest and most scenic national park that covers 106 square km. Much of the park is at an altitude of about 3,000 meters forested by conifers. The park was established in 1976 and protects some of the most beautiful alpine and sub-alpine ecosystems of the Himalaya. The centerpiece is the pristine Lake Rara, also known as Mahendra Tal, the biggest lake in Nepal.

Parsa Wildlife Reserve occupies parts of Chitwan, Makawanpur, Parsa and Bara districts in central Nepal. The reserve headquarters is situated at Adabar on the Hetauda-Birgunj highway and the Reserve covers 499 sq. kms. and was established in 1984.

Langtang is one of the most unspoiled national parks of Nepal. Situated north of Kathmandu, it is the most easily accessible highland sanctuary from the capital. Langtang covers 1,710 sq. km. forming the upper catchment areas of two of Nepal's largest river systems - the Trishuli and Koshi. There is great latitudinal variation, starting at 1,500 m. and ascending to the top of Mt. Langtang Lirung at 7,234 m.

A Book of General Knowledge-3

This wildlife reserve is situated in the extreme south-west of Nepal. The name of the park is derived from the largest of these grasslands which is known as Sukla Phanta. The park area is 155 sq kms. and would be 305 sq kms. after the completion of its extension. Sukla Phanta's grassland is one of the last remaining habitats for such threatened animals as the hispid hare and the pygmy hog. Besides these, Sukla Phanta is the stronghold for another endangered animal, the barasingha, or swamp deer.

Besides national parks and wildlife reserves the Government of Nepal has also set aside a hunting reserve at Dhorpatan where controlled hunting of some species is allowed. Covering an area of 1,325 sq. km., the reserve is situated on the southern flanks of Mt. Dhaulagiri I (8,167 m.) in the districts of Rukum, Baglung and Myagdi in western Nepal.

Preface

General Knowledge Quiz Mania series is prepared primarily for the benefit of curious young children. The study of general knowledge is a fairly demanding task. An effort, therefore, has been made to present this series in as systematic manner as possible. Wherever possible, information is supplemented with coloured pictures, maps and tables which are always easier to understand than the written text. A number of exercises and work sheets are also included at the end of this book on the premise that one learns better by writing than by reading alone.

General Knowledge Quiz Mania series is also intended as an introduction to a new way of looking things around us. The traditional study of general knowledge is subdivided into systematic areas of interests. I would like to thank all those who helped to prepare this series. Any suggestions regarding the betterment of this series will be highly valued.

Laxmi Prasad Devkota

Name  :: Laxmi Prasad Devkota

Born  :: 1966 B.S. (Laxmi Puja)

Died  :: 2016 Bhadra 19

Residence  :: Dilli Bazar, Kathmandu

Nationality  :: Nepali

Known for  :: Poetry (Maha Kavi)

Occupation  :: Poet

Laxmi Prasad Devkota was born into a Brahmin family as the third son of Pandit Til Madhav and Amar Rajya Laxmi Devi. He was born in Dilli Bazar, Kathmandu on the day of Laxmipuja. Devkota studied science at Tri Chandra College in Kathmandu. After completing the intermediate level studies at Tri Chandra College, he enrolled in Humanities and that was when he began to read English poetry. In 1931, Devkota went to Patna on a scholarship hoping to study English for his Master's degree. Laxmi Prasad Devkota was primarily a humanist who occasionally wrote from an atheistic point of view too. Given this reality, some critics have tried to line him up with Marxism or other similar politically leftist ideologies. Apparently in one of his last poems to a friend, he said "Na gyan bho, nanai bho bhakti biveka, Aakhir Shree Krishna rahecha eka" ("In the end, Lord Krishna happens to be the only truth"). However, there has been much intellectual skepticism about this last statement.

Preface

General Knowledge Quiz Mania series is prepared primarily for the benefit of curious young children. The study of general knowledge is a fairly demanding task. An effort, therefore, has been made to present this series in as systematic manner as possible. Wherever possible, information is supplemented with coloured pictures, maps and tables which are always easier to understand than the written text. A number of exercises and work sheets are also included at the end of this book on the premise that one learns better by writing than by reading alone.

General Knowledge Quiz Mania series is also intended as an introduction to a new way of looking things around us. The traditional study of general knowledge is subdivided into systematic areas of interests. I would like to thank all those who helped to prepare this series. Any suggestions regarding the betterment of this series will be highly valued.
